Scientific Digital Imaging plc is pleased to announce the appointment of Harry Tee, CBE as Chairman

Cambridge, UK: Harry Tee already had over 20 years' experience in management within the electronics industry when he founded the Roxboro Group plc in 1990. He was a main board director at Graseby plc and had also held a number of senior management posts in Schlumberger and ITT.

He founded The Roxboro Group in 1990, which included Dialight, and the company was listed on the LSE in 1993. Harry Tee then built a significant group by acquiring such companies as Solartron, Weston and Mobrey; the Group ultimately achieving profits of some £20 million. Subsequently, he profitably disposed of all the companies in the Group, other than the core Dialight operations, and returned the proceeds to the shareholders.

The above plans were completed in 2005 and the company name changed to Dialight PLC, which has remained a listed Company focused on the emerging market for solid state lighting and with worldwide operations, particularly in the UK and US. Harry Tee is non-executive chairman of Dialight PLC. He is also chairman of Piezotag Ltd, a leading edge small high technology company and is a long standing shareholder in Scientific Digital Imaging plc and its subsidiary Synoptics Limited.

In 2005 he was appointed by the then Minister for Trade and Industry as Chairman of the Electronics Leadership Council, an industry-wide alliance established by the electronics industry and Government to give strategic management and leadership within the UK electronics industry, in which position he continues to serve.

Harry Tee was awarded the CBE in the Birthday Honours.
